

Chriz North to Dave

4/17/14

I've got a follow up. I would be clear that Seth first attempted to manipulate my vote to whatever he said, and when I refused, he threatened general damages to the community.

That's extortion.

He wasn't explicit about what this threat but he had already included his willingness to be as mean and toxic on the list as possible, and his intention to "ruin" Franklin one way or another.

There's no recording of the conversation, but I would like the accusation to be taken seriously. Really, he seemed intent on doing as much damage as he could if not given the control he wanted, or manipulating the board in some way if he couldn't.

Please get his side of the story without telling him that I have labelled it as.

Thanks,

Chriz

...